

1271.6. Fahnenaufzügen am Turm des Münchner Rathauses, 9. März 1933
An diesem Tag übernahmen die Nationalsozialisten auch in Bayern die Regierungsgewalt.
Swastika flag on the tower of the Munich town hall, March 9, 1933
On this day the National Socialists also took over the governmental authority in Bavaria.

1272.2 Die kommissarische nationalsozialistische Regierung in Bayern, März 1933
In München, München.
Zurück von links: Franz Ritter von Epp (Rechtskommissar), Ernst Böhm, Karl Adolf Wagner (Interior), Standberg from left: Ernst Böhm (Chief of Staff of the SA and Bavarian State Commissioner), Hans Frank (Justice)

The temporary National Socialist government in Bavaria, March 1933
In München, München.
Zurück von links: Franz Ritter von Epp (Rechtskommissar), Ernst Böhm, Karl Adolf Wagner (Interior), Standberg from left: Ernst Böhm (Chief of Staff of the SA and Bavarian State Commissioner), Hans Frank (Justice)

1276.9 „Schutzhilfsdienst“ gegen den Katholischen Sozialdemokraten
Eich Baur vom 10. März 1933
München, München.

„Protective Security Order“ against the Catholic Social Democrat
Eich Baur from March 10, 1933
The reason given for the arrest was to protect the person's personal safety in light of the current „political circumstances“ of the person's safety from the „political party violence“ of the person arrested.

1276.9 Rundschreiben des Bayerischen Innenministeriums vom 10. März 1933 an die Polizeidirektoren und die Staatspolizeileiter München, München.

Bavarian circular of interior minister from March 10, 1933 to the police administrators and state police officers.
The police stations addressed are to take into protective custody all functionaries of the KPD and Social Democrat-dominated Reichsbanner.